

Meet Jeanie and Family...

"I had the opportunity to become involved with the Crittenton Center as a board member and I didn't hesitate as years earlier my parents had donated gift cards to the youth at the shelter at Christmas for them to go shopping.

As donors, Leonard and Roberta Gill have always been generous even before they had the capability. They had a strong faith in God. I watched them over the years grow their faith and generosity at the same time. Leonard was a successful entrepreneur. Starting his own paving company for roads while Bert was a homemaker. Leonard started with a wheelbarrow and a shovel. Eventually becoming a well known businessman in the Siouxland Area and past owner and operator of the LP Gill Landfill.

The couple would reminisce about their childhoods and difficult financial times and how they were on the receiving end of other people's generosity. Over the years Leonard was involved in many non-profits and board of directors, while Roberta was also serving the community and known to others as being there to help anyone in need.

The family continues to honor their legacy and support the Crittenton Center because of the support and services it offers to youth and families in need and the overall goal of improving their lives."

-Jeanie Hohenstein, Crittenton Board President and Volunteer